

Aculab is a privately owned company that was established in 1978. Since 1990 we have focused on providing computer telephony components such as media processing boards and software. Our customers around the world integrate this evolving portfolio of enabling technologies into a wealth of high performance communications solutions. Aculab's customers are distinguished by their success in offering applications and services into a wide range of markets.

For those new to Aculab, here are a few good reasons why you should join us:

1. Product reputation and innovation	Aculab's products have won many industry awards and plaudits since introducing the first boards to combine TDM connectivity with media processing in 1996. Our latest products are genuinely designed for multi-media in IP networks, whilst retaining an essential TDM option. For testimony, just ask around; the Aculab name is synonymous with product longevity, reliability and quality.
2. Accessible, solution-based approach	Aculab's portfolio of media processing platforms has been designed to enhance a wide variety of communications solutions. This is achieved through a flexible and highly accessible, customer led approach to product development, feature enhancement and customisation. Whatever your focus, you can rely on Aculab to go the distance with you, ensuring mutual benefit and success.
3. Global presence and acceptance	Motivated by our customers' success, we are fully committed to offering you the products you need. We don't do what you do; we are there to help you do what you do better. Unrivalled in the market place and with an unprecedented feature set and price performance, Aculab's products have been widely adopted by companies representing over 30 countries worldwide.
4. Unparalleled technical support	Our technical support engineers, backed up by their development colleagues, are there to help you through each stage of your product's development and life cycle. In addition, you also get free access to our extensive on-line Knowledge Base and active Developers' Forum .
5. Professional services	The members of our team of skilled technical consultants, operating worldwide in support of our customers, are dedicated to delivering a variety of services. Of course, they are on hand to make the decision process and transition to Aculab easier, helping you identify the best technology fit and how to get the most out of our products. Additionally, they can provide product and technology training as well as bespoke software design and development for you.
6. Customer focus	As a private company, we focus on our customers not investment bankers. We recognise that your success is our success and we are willing to listen and invest in the technology you need to be successful. In partnership, we are able to deliver market-leading performance from high value, next generation communication applications.
7. Comprehensive product capability	Aculab's enabling technology products include media processing boards and host media processing software for IP and PSTN networks. A comprehensive range of essential and specialist functionality is offered to enable you to build the A-to-Z of applications, services and solutions.
8. Exceptional product value	Aculab's portfolio offers an exceptional mix of capabilities that are easy to integrate and bring real value. That value comes from price performance – reducing your costs, leading to better margins and giving you real competitive advantage. We work hard to ensure you have the technology mix you need to meet the ever changing demands of the communications market.
9. Aculab communications exchange (ACE)	ACE is our own global industry communications and user community networking event. It is designed around our product direction and understanding your needs and opinions whilst giving you the opportunity to network with leading industry players and generate new business opportunities. Join us next time round; it's a great way to get introduced to the Aculab community.
10. Connect to success	Committed to customer satisfaction, Aculab works with valued customers and strategic alliances to share unique, specialist, marketing, technical and sales expertise. Our comprehensive partner marketing programme – " Connected with Aculab " – builds on this philosophy through activities such as co-exhibiting at industry events, joint promotions, advertising and PR. Something you will get great value from.